DEI MINISERIES: LESSONS LEARNED FROM PILOTING AN INTERACTIVE, RELATIONSHIPBASED INTERVENTION FOR HEALTHCARE TEAMS

LAURA RAMZY, PHD

SAMANTHA PELICAN MONSON, PSYD

BRIGITTE MCCLELLAN, PSYD, PMHC

MAIN TAKEAWAYS

- Intervention decisions are made by those with higher power, but they lack insight into the experience/needs of those with lower power
- Role and race-based power impacted participants' experience of this intervention
- 3. This work takes time and our systems never have enough
- Group composition/hierarchy needs to be considered to prioritize psychological safety
